SPEAKERS

Gregory Rehmke directs Economic Thinking and manages FEE Seminars for homeschool students. More than 5,000 homeschool students have attended Economic Thinking and FEE seminars. Greg is coauthor of The Complete Idiot’s Guide to Global Economics.

Lawrence White is F. A. Hayek Professor of Economic History at the University of Missouri-St. Louis. He is author of The Theory of Monetary Institutions and Free Banking in Britain.

Gabriella Megyesi grew up under socialism in Hungary and attended Karl Marx University. Communism collapsed when she was in college, and her class was the first to study market economics. Ms. Megyesi has been a popular speaker at FEE programs for homeschoolers. Gabriella runs economic simulations that allow students to experience first-hand economic principles in action.

FEE’s flagship publication, THE FREEMAN, is available to students at no charge.

FEE Essay Contest for Homeschool Students

Frederic Bastiat’s short masterpiece, The Law, has inspired thousands of home school debate students. The Foundation for Economic Education is accepting essays based upon The Law. First prize is $1000, second is $500, plus honorable mentions and a chance to be published in THE FREEMAN or Notes From FEE.

Contest rules available at www.fee.org/debate.

Write for a copy of The Law, or see online: www.fee.org/library/books/thelaw/TheLaw-2008.pdf.

About the Foundation for Economic Education (FEE)

FEE was founded in 1946 by Leonard Read to study and advance the freedom philosophy. FEE’s mission is to offer the most consistent case for the “first principles” of freedom: the sanctity of private property, individual liberty, the rule of law, the free market, and the moral superiority of individual choice and responsibility over coercion.
