

FEE SEMINAR FOR HOMESCHOOL STUDENTS

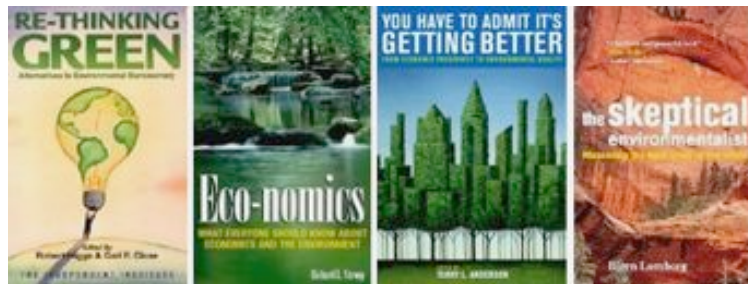

Entrepreneurs, Enterprises, and the Environment: Reforming Environmental Policy

Gregory Rehmke, Guest Speaker to be announced

July 30, 1:00 - 8:30 pm • Foundation for Economic Education (Includes Dinner!) 30 South Broadway, Irvington, NY 10533

Seminar fee: $10/person (if not attending Tim Edelblut Seminar) (Tim Edelblut debate seminar, July 31-Aug.1, jtedelblut@gmail.com)

To Register: Send email to Greg Rehmke (grehmke@gmail.com)

- 1:00 -1:10 Welcome to The Foundation for Economic Education
1:10 - 2:10 The Prosperity Paradox and Environmental Regulation
2:20 - 3:20 Entrepreneurs, Enterprises and the Environment
3:30 - 4:00 Environmental Law, Legislation, and Liberty

SPEAKERS

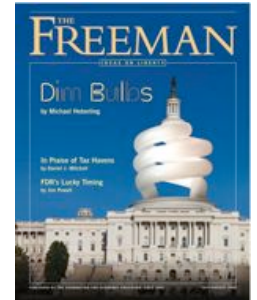

Gregory Rehmke directs programs for Economic Thinking and is a program consultant for the Foundation for Economic Education.

Guest Speaker to be announced.

The Foundation for Economic Education

FEE's flagship publication is available online: www.TheFreemanOnline.org

FEE Summer Seminars for Students The Foundation for Economic Education holds summer seminars for students.

FEE.org and TheFreemanOnline.org are resources for speech and debate research.

FEE.org/homeschool for topic research.

Economic Thinking

Economic Thinking promotes workshops, websites, books, and videos and offers Economics in a Box, a 16-week economics course for homeschool students:

www.EconomicThinking.org/eiab

The Property Rights and Environment Research Center

Recommended for research environmental topics.

