

Economics & Federal Revenue

Public Choice - History - Civics

Newport Beach, California, Monex, 4910 Birch Street, Newport Beach, CA 92660

Thursday, September 8th, 9 am-4:00 pm, $25/student, $15/sibling, parents free.

To register or questions: Robyn Vandewalle <rvandewalle@att.net>

TP Debate: Resolved: That the United States federal government should substantially reform its revenue generation policies. And LD Debate: Resolved: When in conflict, personal freedom ought to be valued above economic security.

Join us for this interdisciplinary workshop for students and parents, covering the intersection of economics, ethics, public policy, civics, and history.

Homeschool Policy and LD students interested in federal revenue, tax policy, economic security, and personal freedom, will discuss the dynamics of tax and revenue policy through the ages. Economic principles and lessons from history will help students better understand today's financial and public policy issues. LD students will consider Benjamin Franklin's warning: Those who would give up essential liberty to purchase a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety. Historical Review of Pennsylvania, 1759

Greg Rehmke and Lou Carabini will discuss and apply economic and philosophical principles, helping students understand economics and current issues, and why economic freedom, justice, prosperity, and stability are so misunderstood in modern America.

- Gregory Rehmke directs Economic Thinking, consults for the Institute for Economic Studies-Europe, and directs seminars for Independent Institute. He is coauthor of The Complete Idiot's Guide to Global Economics.
- Louis Carabini is the author of Inclined to Liberty: The Futile Attempt to Suppress the Human Spirit. Mr. Carabini received his B.A. from UCLA, and founded Monex, a precious metals trading company, in 1967.
